Session Overview

Don't pass up this opportunity to be fully prepared for 2022's ever-changing health and employee benefits landscape. This webinar is designed to provide industry professionals with an overview of latest and greatest from Washington, insight into existing and new regulations, and how all impacts your organization and customers.

Top Takeaways

- Prepare for 2022 through an easy-to-understand update on employer-sponsored health care and benefits.
- Gain insight into new government regulations including Transparency, the No Surprises Act along with the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act.
- Utilize a checklist of action items on employer-sponsored health care and related regulatory and sub-regulatory guidance going into the new year.

Speaker: Molly Iacovoni, J. D. | Senior Vice President | Aon

Molly is an attorney with the Aon Health Solutions Practice for over 25 years. She assists clients and their counsel with employee benefits issues, primarily focusing on health and welfare plan requirements under ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code. Her specialty includes requirements under the Affordable Care Act, ERISA reporting and disclosure, cafeteria plan rules, COBRA, Medicare (including Part D), the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act (MHPAEA), and various state laws. She is a key contributor to Aon's Knowledge Alerts and other periodicals, provides comments to the IRS and U.S. Department of Labor, and was named a 2015 Risk & Insurance® Power Broker®. Molly received her BA in Finance from Aquinas College and J.D. from DePaul University in 1995.

Speaker: Jeannette J. Kozloff, J.D. | Vice President | Aon

Jeannette is also an attorney with the Aon Health Solutions Practice based outside of Philadelphia, PA. She has extensive knowledge of the Affordable Care Act, HIPAA, ERISA, COBRA, and the Internal Revenue Code and helps clients understand and comply with the various statutes and regulations that affect employee welfare benefit plans. At the state level, she's provided analysis of state budget proposals and legislation on various health care-related issues. Jeannette earned a J.D. from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law and a B.S. in Industrial and Labor Relations from Cornell University.
